

Chris Pannapacker

City Council Candidate
Concord Ward 3

Running for office is a chance to meet my neighbors and an opportunity to listen to what really matters to people who have lived in Ward 3 longer than I have. I plan to knock on as many doors as I can before the election. As a resident of Ward 3, I promise always to listen to your concerns. If you want to start the conversation now, give me a call or text on my cell phone at 545-8998, or you can e-mail me at chris.pannapacker@gmail.com.

When I first moved to Concord and was talking about getting involved in local politics, I was asked, "What does the city council actually do?" When I couldn't give a detailed response, I knew I had a lot to learn. Democracy only works when people participate; and since running for office is the most direct way to participate, I am confident this experience will teach me a tremendous amount about the process.

Efficiency can make all the difference. As I learned during last year's winter, efficiency affects everything. In my house, it certainly affected my heating bill. In government, efficiency means lower costs, which would mean lower taxes as a result. If elected to City Council, cost efficiency would be one of my primary concerns.

In the interest of getting involved and learning more about my local government, I am also running a write-in campaign for Supervisor of the Checklist for Ward 3. Please consider writing my name in for that position.
